Tu Bishvat: Trusting What We Cannot See

Just as life moves beneath the soil and sea, the Jewish holiday of trees reminds us that the world is fuller than it often appears.

President's Message from Belinda Braunstein

The Search for a Rabbi

Longtime members of Etz Chaim will know that for decades the congregation has hosted and mentored student rabbis from HUC (Hebrew Union College). Some stayed the expected one year of service, and many continued for a second year, I am told. Our last student rabbi, following COVID, left us early on for her own reasons. Since then, Rachel has been admirably leading services twice per month with Linda-Anne providing the monthly formal service drash - interpretation on that week's Torah portion. They've really been "holding down the fort," as my mom would say.

But what about a new student rabbi? In January I spoke with the HUC Rabbinic

Fieldwork Coordinator about the possibility of our securing a student rabbi for 2026-27.

The upcoming year does not look promising for several reasons, but 2027-28 looks better. So what to do? I think we'll pursue one of three paths:

- 1) Secure a student rabbi as hoped (not likely, but we'll know in April).
- 2) Seek an experienced rabbi to come monthly for services and adult education through the Small Congregation Clergy Collaborative, though which we located Rabbi Berlin last summer for High Holidays.
- 3) Continue on as we are now and get creative for those interested: occasionally carpool to services in Fresno and Modesto; take advantage of Rabbi Lotker's virtual classes/discussions on Mondays and Wednesday nights
- 4) (<http://lotker.com>).

If you have any ideas or suggestions, please email me at bbraunstein@ucmerced.edu.

If you would like to try your hand at leading one of the monthly lay-led services, I'm sure Rachel would enjoy the break. Several congregation members can help you prepare. Let me know! It's up to all of us to hold down the fort and maintain our small but vibrant Jewish community.

B'shalom,
Belinda
